American Sentenced in Japanese Court

AOMORI, Japan (AP) — For the second time this week, a Japanese court in Aomori has given an American serviceman a stiff sentence. The Army is appealing both.

Roosevelt Ross, 22, Ocala, Fla., was convicted of setting fire to the Kentucky Tavern near Misawa March 6 after the bartender would not serve him. He was sentenced to 2½ years at hard labor.

Earlier this week the same court convicted Paul E. Bell, Beaufort, S. C., of assaulting a taxi driver and gave him five years.

Japanese courts try American personnel for offenses allegedly committed while off duty and away from their bases.

Ike Thinks Highly of Gen. Lee

By ROBERT G. NIXON
WASHINGTON, (INS) —

President Eisenhower said today that he considers Confederate General Robert E. Lee to be one of the four greatest Americans who ever lived.

The President leaped to the defense of the Confederate leader at his news conference when questioned about criticism he and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery had voiced of generalship on both sides at the Battle of Gettysburg.

Mr. Eisenhower and Montgomery, who served as his deputy commander in Europe in World War II, re-fought the decisive Civil War battle verbally over the weekend and were critical of Lee's decision to launch the abortive charge by Gen. George Pickett.

The criticism of Lee's generalship aroused a storm of protest in the South. But today, the President had glowing words of praise for the Confederate leader.

He told his news conference:

"On the wall of my office I have the prints of four men — Lee, Jackson, Grant and Lincoln. I consider them in my book to be the four top men of the past."

The President added with considerable emphasis: "If anyone tries to put me in a different relationship with Lee they are mistaken."

At Gettysburg Sunday, Mr. Eisenhower shook his head in dismay as he looked over the battlefield where 15,000 Confederates charged on July 3, 1863, in a vain assault on the Union center.

The President said he has never been able to understand what prompted Lee's decision. Seven thousand Confederates were slaughtered in less than 30 minutes in the charge.

Each District Can Set Own Tax Rate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Each district of Sebastian County is entitled to its own tax equalization board. Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said in an opinion today.

Bennett said that this was because of a "unique" provision of the state constitution which divided the county into two "quasi counties."

In another opinion, sent to Alderman Max Poe of Pocahontas, Bennett said that city has local authority to create a police department. Poe said in a letter that the city has "outgrown the present elected marshal form of government."

The attorney general informed Pulaski Sen. Artie Gregory that carpenters, electricians and plumbers are not required to collect and remit to the state the sales tax on materials they furnish under a subcontract.

The law declares that such items are "sold to the subcontractor as a consumer and he must pay the tax on them," Bennett said.

Working 13 Hours Day Gives a Man Success

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — John Bentia, a 39-year-old bachelor who runs a 20-million-dollar-a-year business, has figured out a simple formula by which practically anyone can become successful in only 14 hours a day.

There's only one catch in it. You have to spend the 14 hours working.

"I feel strongly that a person of mediocre talent can, by determination and hard work, be more successful than a brilliant man with less drive," said Bentia.

"I've seen it happen time after time, and it's a simple matter of mathematics."

"If you work 13 hours a day and the other fellow works eight, every two days you gain a full day on him. The chances are that, even if he is a little smarter

Negro Held for Knife Slaying at Washington

A 21-year-old West Indies Negro listed as George Irwin, is being held in Hempstead County Jail here on a charge of first degree murder.

Sheriff Jimmy Cook said Irwin is being held for the knife slaying late yesterday of his 16-year-old wife, Charlie May Irwin, at her father's home three miles west of Washington on the Columbus road.

The Sheriff said the pair, married since last November, were separated and she was getting a divorce. The girl was staying at the home of her father.

Irwin called her into the yard and slashed her at least six times about the body, the Sheriff said. Her 14-year-old brother unsuccessfully tried to stop Irwin, officer said. The girl died a short time later.

Irwin fled and was later captured in a thicket alongside a road in the area by Lt. J. H. Porterfield of the State Police and Joe Booker. Many officers and residents joined the manhunt.

Sheriff Cook said Irwin was a worker from the West Indies and had been in the U. S. about 14 months.

Duties of a Judge Told to Kiwanians

Some of the many duties and responsibilities of the chancery judge were defined in a speech yesterday before Hope Kiwanis club, by Judge James H. Pilkinton.

Judge Pilkinton presides over the sixth chancery district, composed of nine counties in southwest Arkansas, along with Judge Wesley Howard of DeQueen.

Several years ago one judge presided over the entire circuit, holding court once or twice each year in each county, but the work load has so increased with new population, new problems that it is now necessary to hold court in some of the counties once each week, and often as many as five times a year in the smaller counties, Judge Pilkinton pointed out.

He compared the duties and functions of the chancery court to that of the circuit court, pointing out that the circuit court was one that dealt with criminal cases and trial juries.

The chancery court, Judge Pilkinton explained, has no juries and deals with civil cases, handling such matters as disputed land titles, leases, mortgage foreclosures, annuities and divorces, problems that arise from non-support of children, estates, wills and other matters.

"In our court we see the best and the worst in human nature. We find that most people are honest and want to do the right thing. A judge's life is sometimes lonely, but an interesting one."

"I haven't reached the point yet where I can always tell if the witness is telling a lie, but my batting average is pretty high," the judge concluded.

Guests of the club: Glen Byler of Texarkana, and Circuit Judge Lyle Brown of Hope.

Bodcaw Graduation Friday Night

Bodcaw graduation exercises will be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, May 17 at the school. Baccalaureate services for the 15 seniors were held last Sunday with the Rev. W. E. Thomason bringing the message.

The Commencement address will be delivered by Haskell Jones. Patsy Furtler is valedictorian and Evelyn May is salutatorian.

House Groups Lop Defense Funds Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Appropriations subcommittee was reported today to have tentatively decided to cut about 2½ billion dollars from new appropriations requested by the Defense —

The reduction, if approved by the entire committee, would amount to about 7 per cent of President Eisenhower's request for 1958.

Eisenhower's budget included another 2½ billion in requests proposed for later transmission to Congress, making the defense total 38½ billion.

The tentative reduction would boost to slightly more than four billion dollars the total cut by the House or its committee this year on 14 appropriation bills involving requests for $55,700,000,000.

The cut in Defense Department appropriations, if reported, was aimed mainly at maintenance, procurement and operation programs.

House Republican Leader Martin Dies said yesterday he "would not want to assume any responsibility for the safety of the country" if Congress slashes the amounts he asked for aircraft and guided missiles. There was no indication whether these items were involved in the proposed cuts.

Husband of Former Hope Girl Killed

Word has been received here of the death of Cliff Ataway last week at Wichita Falls, Texas. He was killed in a car wreck. He was the husband of the former Ruth King of Hope. He leaves his wife and four children.

New Hope Cheerleaders

Union Groups Ponder Fate of Dave Beck

WASHINGTON (UP) — The committee of five Teamsters' vice presidents and AFL-CIO President George Meany today discussed problems of the scandal-stricken Teamsters union.

None would say after the meeting for little more than an hour at AFL-CIO headquarters whether the question of ousting Dave Beck from the Teamsters' presidency was discussed.

Meany left the building by a side door.

Einar Mohn, Teamsters executive vice president and head of the special committee, would say only that "we had a very pleasant meeting and discussed the general problem as they affect the Teamsters' organization."

Informed sources believed the question of Beck's stepping down was discussed, since the union risks ouster from the AFL-CIO if he stays.

Meany repeatedly has made it clear that he feels Beck no longer should hold office in view of Senate-Racket committee disclosures concerning his use of union funds and his office for personal gain.

The AFL-CIO executive council meets Monday to try Beck on charges of bringing the labor movement into disrepute. The council also will decide whether to make permanent its suspension of Beck as an AFL-CIO vice president.

Mohn said in reply to questions that the Teamsters' five-man committee will attend. He said Beck's appearance is "an individual matter."

The Teamsters' committee originally was appointed to no argue against Beck's suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president. Meany already has rejected its request that it be thrown open for discussion.

The Teamsters' officials were equally reticent to discuss today's meeting before it started.

Segregation Discovered in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania, where racial segregation in schools has been outlawed for decades, found itself today with three public school districts admittedly practicing it.

Gov. George M. Leader immediately promised to stamp it out — but without saying how. His state superintendent of public instruction, Charles H. Boehm, said it was a local law enforcement problem.

Leader, a 39-year-old Democrat who long has championed civil rights, ordered a survey last October on how the state's more than 2,400 school districts were doing on the controversial segregation issue.

The results came out last night — the nature of them surprising many on the official Harrisburg scene.

Officials of three school districts admitted in a state questionnaire that Negroes were kept apart from white students in an elementary school in each district.

The schools are located at Coatesville, a steelmaking community about 30 miles east of Philadelphia, in the Kennett consolidated system in the same county as Coatesville; and at Steelton — Highspire, near Harrisburg, the state capital.

In each case, the local school superintendent said integration efforts were under way and would be completed in periods ranging from six months to three years.

The segregated school in the Kennett Consolidated District is named the Thaddeus Stevens School, Stevens, a Pennsylvania congressman, was one of the nation's strongest abolitionist voices more than a century ago.

School Supt. H. T. Griffith said a new school building would bring an end to segregation in his district, but he wrote the Department of Public Instruction:

"If the Selton situation is left to itself, complete integration will be achieved by September, 1958 without incident or the arousal of tensions which could very easily destroy the fine working relationship which now exists in our high school and other integrated schools."

"With coercion or interference with present plans, existing elements could be easily stirred into a pattern of dissension similar to the deplorable and tragic events which we have been as our neighboring states."

Tax Repeal Office Opened in L. R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hope newspaper publisher Alex H. Washburn yesterday opened a Little Rock headquarters in his campaign to repeal the 3 per cent sales tax.

Washburn is leading a movement for signatures to refer the tax to popular vote — either at a special election or at the 1958 general election.

If he is successful in getting an election and a majority vote against the 3 per cent tax, the rate will revert to 2 per cent. That was the rate before it was increased by the 1957 Legislature.

Washburn's Little Rock office is at 624 Manning Hotel.

Money Stolen From a Church Recovered

FORREST CITY, (UP) — Police said $500 of $1,350 stolen from a church here Monday night was recovered yesterday from a mailbox.

The money, in travelers checks, was discovered by a postman in a mailbox near the St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church, from which the money was stolen.

Fr. A. G. Dunlavy, pastor of the church, told officers the thief gained entrance through the rear of the church's office-rectory early Monday night. He said the office was unlocked.

Ike Cautions Against Cuts in Defense

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) President Eisenhower said today that if Congress trifles with defense spending the country is going to be in trouble.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference in commenting on reports that a House Appropriations subcommittee has decided tentatively to cut the Defense Department's request for new appropriations by 2½ billion dollars.

Eisenhower said he believes the department has taken the position that new defense appropriations could be cut about a half billion dollars.

But he went on to say that if the House subcommittee goes beyond that point and makes an additional honest cut of two billion dollars, he wants to see just how it is done.

Eisenhower said he has been around Washington a good many years. Then he added that if we are going to trifle with defense spending, we are going to be in trouble.

He said that if such cuts as reported are possible, he is going to have to be educated all over again.

A good part of Eisenhower's news conference was devoted to a discussion of the administration's $71,800,000,000 spending budget, and Eisenhower's defense of that program in a nationwide television-radio address last night.

Eisenhower, wearing a brown suit with a white shirt and brown figured tie, also discussed these other matters:

POLITICS — Eisenhower said he believes he is growing more conservative so far as his political philosophy is concerned.

He made that remark with a smile when a newsman told him some Republicans believed he has been moving somewhat to the left.

Far from it, Eisenhower said. He went on to say he is absolutely against trifling with the nation's financial integrity, for example.

MODERN REPUBLICANISM — Reminded that he interpreted his reelection last November as a victory for Modern Republicanism and as a mandate from the people in support of his program, Eisenhower said he believes that as the general public is informed regarding his objectives they probably will support that for which they vote.

CIVIL RIGHTS — Asked whether he believes the administration's civil rights program might hurt the Republican party's chances in the South, Eisenhower replied that in his opinion the program will do no such harm in the long run.

Eisenhower called it a very moderate program in accord with the Supreme Court's desegregation decision.

LEB — Eisenhower joined heartily in a round of laughter touched off when a reporter brought up the tour of the Gettysburg battle field last weekend by the President and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

After that tour Eisenhower and Montgomery agree that Lee and Meade, respective commanders of the Southern and Northern forces at Gettysburg should have been "sacked."

Eisenhower said today he wanted to put in another word regarding that matter, which has stirred up so much controversy, especially in the South.

Eisenhower reminded newsmen that in his White House office he has portraits of Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee.

He said he regards those men as four of the greatest Americans, and added that anybody who tries to put him in any other position is mistaken.

PSC Gives Okay to Gas Contract

LITTLE ROCK (AP) A new 5-year contract between Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and Acme Brick Co. has been approved by the Arkansas Public Service Commission.

The contract, retroactive to Dec. 26, 1955, provides that Acme purchase gas at rates ranging from 17½ to 30 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, depending on the amount used. After June 26, 1958, rates in each bracket will go up 2½ cents a unit.

New Warfare Weapons to Be Tested

By JACK LEFLER
ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nevada, (AP) — Three important new steps in the series scheduled to open tomorrow.

But the possibility of ceiling today posed a threat of postponement for the planned pre-dawn blast.

A comparatively small atomic device, described as one half of a normal, will launch "the most extensive series of tests ever held in Nevada." It will be exploded from a tower.

Pre-blast briefing of newsmen by nuclear scientists and military experts disclosed these test plans:

1. The first air-to-air rocket with an atomic warhead will be fired.

2. The proposed infinity of the atomic age will be tested for the first time.

3. Pigs, the largest animals ever placed under an atomic test here, will be used.

The rocket will be fired late in the series, which is to end Sept. 1. It will be loosed from a manned aircraft, but there was no announcement of what, if any, target there will be.

The infantry maneuver, scheduled for Aug. 19, will involve three new concepts of ground warfare, based on a proposed new unit — the "battle group."

These concepts are: establishment of a defense against nuclear attacks, mobility by air and supply by air.

The battle group will build with its own forces and equipment, within 24 hours, a protection against an atomic weapon or missile of artillery size. Some 1,400 men from Ft. Lewis, Wash., will be used.

The supposed enemy weapon will be dropped in the middle of the fortifications with the test troops withdrawn to a distance of about 450 yards. The purpose will be to determine how their protective efforts stand up.

In the second phase, the battle group will take the offensive and will be moved by helicopters to occupy a strategic site.

The third phase will utilize helicopters to supply the entrenched force and to evacuate casualties.

Urges Attention to Mentally Ill

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's psychiatrists and medical doctors were urged today to learn up-to-date knowledge and techniques in a broad attack on mental illness.

Dr. Francis J. Braceland, president of the American Psychiatric Assn., said "no one approach to psychiatric disorder" can claim a monopoly on beneficial effects.

But he contended that over-emphasis has been placed recently on the role of tranquilizers and other chemical agents in treating mental disorder. He described this as a swinging of the pendulum—"too widely"—away from the teachings of Sigmund Freud.

"It is incumbent upon us now to temper that movement lest we repeat the errors of the past and fail to make use of the remarkable insights which have come from medical psychology and the social sciences," he said.

In his presidential address, prepared for the 113th annual meeting of the association, he said, "psychiatry will have to be more than ever a medical discipline."

Okays Foreign Aid But on Reduced Scale

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate committee says foreign aid should be continued, but at less cost to the American taxpayer.

Reporting on an intensive study of the mutual assistance program, the committee called for tighter coordination and streamlining of various foreign aid programs both to increase their effectiveness and to cut their costs.

Without suggesting any figure, the group said President Eisenhower should cut his aid requests below the revised $3,800,000,000 figure he approved last week.

On the other hand, the committee said it must be recognized that the United States "may be threatened by military attack," and cautioned against what it said would be "the adverse consequences in indiscriminate cuts in the safety and the international position of the United States."

The report was made public last night by the committee, composed of the Foreign Relations Committee plus chairman and senior Republicans of the Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

It gave a general nod of approval to Eisenhower's suggestion for giving most economic aid in the form of loans rather than grants, but said there should be no "haste" in setting up a "permanent" fund for the purpose.

Eisenhower has asked a three-year authorization, with 300 million dollars for the first year and 750 million for each of the two succeeding years.

For both military and defense support aid, the committee said, Congress should continue "its annual review of military aid policy," to keep the programs within limits of both foreign needs and American capabilities.

It said it had found that some countries were getting weapons they cannot use to best advantage, while others are getting more military aid than their economies can sustain.

It said Secretary of State Dulles medicine is necessary, he said, "for doing responsible and successful psychiatric treatment."

Flier's Body Crashes Into Living Room

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A flier's body crashed into a living room yesterday, seconds after a small airplane inexplicably fell apart over a residential section.

"We were sitting there working a crossword puzzle, when suddenly it sounded like the house was blowing up. My daughter screamed and we looked around behind us, and there was the body on the floor, only five feet from us," said Fred G. Thomson, 35, owner of the house.

The dead flier was Willis Allen Wood, 21, Salem, Ore., whose light plywood plane disintegrated over southeast Portland in late afternoon. The pieces of wreckage caused no serious damage.

Wood, an Oregon State College senior, either was thrown from the plane when it began coming apart, or he jumped. He had no parachute.

The body tore a hole in Thomson's roof and smashed a chair in the living room.

Thomson was in the living room with his 9-year-old daughter Connie.

"I thought Fred's furnace had exploded," said a neighbor, I. S. McCoy.

Officials have not determined what caused the plane to disintegrate. The weather was clear and calm. Witnesses said they heard no explosions. Several agreed they heard the engine sputter, and then the wings began coming off. They also said the engine steadied again, and some said it still was going when the fuselage crashed. The plane was estimated to have been 2,000 feet up when it disintegrated.

NOTICE

Needless to say that I have quite a bit of money in the pond known as the Hollis Luck pond, located back of the University Experiment Station. I hate to ask the public to please not ask me and to please, not go out to fish the pond anymore. As you know, it is a small pond and won't take long to fish it out at the rate it is going now.

I only wish it was large enough to accommodate everybody as it is very hard for me to turn down anybody, but if I give permission to one person, then the other person thinks I should do the same. Therefore, I am compelled to ask that you please abide by this, as I do not want to have to post some.

Thanks,

Graydon Anthony

Anti-Red Arab Kinds Plan Conference

By ANGELO NATALE

BAGHDAD (AP)—Reports mounted today that the Arab world's three leading anti-Communist kings will meet this week in Iraq.

Diplomatic sources said King Hussein of Jordan would join King Saud of Saudi Arabia and Faisal of Iraq, possibly Thursday, for their first joint talks since the 21-year-old Jordanian ousted leftist and pro-Egyptian forces from control of his government.

The sources said the conference would be in Baghdad, where Saud is visiting; or at Habbaniyah, site of a British military and air base 45 miles west of Baghdad.

In Amman, Hussein's capital, there was renewed evidence of assension in the Egyptian Arab bloc. But here in Baghdad, where the kings of Saudi Arabia and Iraq were already meeting, it was reported King Saud was trying to smooth relations between this pro-Western country and Egypt.

Qualified sources said Hussein's arrival while Saud is still here would further bolster the plans of Iraqi Premier Nuri Said for a stronger bond between the three Arab kingdoms.

Saud, the traditional enemy of the Hashemite family ruling Iraq and Jordan, arrived Saturday, kissed cheeks fraternally with Iraq's 22-year-old King Faisal, Hussein's cousin. Negotiations got under way yesterday on an unlimited Iraq-Saudi Arabia trade agreement.

The Tartars, who once overran Russia, Poland and Hungary, are now confined to a region in Soviet Russia. They are Mohammedan in religion and speak a Turkish dialect.

youngest executive ever to receive the honor.
A pleasant-faced man with an easy manner that cloaks his own Spartan sense of self-discipline, Bentia says there never in history has been a time when it was easier for a man to get ahead — if he face up to the price.

"There have never been more opportunities — and fewer people really looking for them," he observed dryly.

"But most people today seem afraid to stick their necks out. They are afraid to take a hammering, but it is only by taking the hammering that you can learn what you have to know."

"They lack confidence in themselves, yet this you must develop and hold on to. They prefer to look for a pleasant job with minimum risks and a safe pension."

The truth, as Bentia sees it, is that most people who say they want to be a success actually are afraid of success and the penalties it imposes. He makes no bones of the fact success does exact a penalty.

"You sometimes are lonely when you're not working," he admitted frankly. "You miss some of the pleasure of family life, and the enjoyment of hobbies. You don't play as good a game of golf."

"Socially, you find it difficult to engage in small talk because you don't have the time to learn the things that make small talk."

The reward of success, he feels, lies in the pride of creative achievement rather than in the bigger paycheck.

But is success worth the things a man loses along the way. "Obviously, most men in their hearts don't think so," he said. "I do, even though I know I have missed — so far — the happiness of family life."

But Bentia says being a bachelor isn't one of his career goals, and he expects to marry soon.

What attribute does he value most in a wife?

"Primarily understanding," he said, smiling. "From what the older boys tell me, it can cause a lot of trouble if you like to work long hours and your wife isn't sympathetic."

Youth 14, Strangles a 3-Year-Old Girl

CHICAGO (AP) — A 3-year-old girl was strangled and buried under the front porch of her home yesterday and police said a 4-year-old neighbor boy admitted the crime shortly after the child's body was found early today.

Capt. Robert Ryan, deputy chief of the uniformed police, said the youth, Lawrence (Larry) Madsen, admitted he strangled Lisa Jorgensen in his basement apartment, took off her clothes and hid the nude body.

Police began searching for the little girl when she was reported missing about 4 p. m. yesterday. They found the body shortly after midnight.

Ryan quoted Madsen as saying he had lured the girl into his bedroom to play records for her. They lived in the same apartment building on the Northwest Side.

"She started crying," Ryan quoted the boy. "Something uncontrollable came over me. I don't know why I did it but I took off my tie, tied it around her neck and strangled her. She turned blue."

Station on Monday evening, May 13.
The tables were laden with fried chicken, salads, sandwiches, baked beans, fritos, and potato chips. The dessert was cakes and pies cooked by members of the club.

After they had eaten, the club members enjoyed a number of parlor games with Misses Billie Jean Wilkinson and Caryl Joy Myers in charge. Miss Charlotte Sasser was chairman of the food committee and assisted the club sponsor, Mrs. W. A. Williams, as hostess.

Coming and Going
Mr. and Mrs. Berton Ellis have just returned from a vacation trip to Mt. Magazine and Petit Jean Mountain and visited friends in Dardanel. On their return they visited in Little Rock with their children, Austin Ellis and wife, Pauline Ellis and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Eaton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkins and the twins.

CHAPTER XX

Dr. Teatini's mouth fell open at the amount I offered him for his services and he seemed to be struggling for breath. I took the bottle of brandy from my pocket and set it on the edge of the desk. With this thrown in as a gesture of good faith.

He saw the table on the bottle and one hand started forth as if by its own volition; he snatched it back and held it trembling in front of him.

His tongue licked nervously at his lips, then he tore his gaze away from the bottle to look at me with eyes in which fear and desire battled. "What?" he asked.

I told him what I wanted him to do and watched while he made up his mind. It didn't take him long.

"I will do it," he said. He giggled to himself. "It is easy. It will make no difference if my hands tremble. It is a bargain, sign?"

"It is a bargain," I said. He reached for the bottle and I pulled it away. "Where are your instruments?" I asked. "In a pawnshop!"

He nodded, then suddenly peered at me. "If you would advance me the money, I could get them before tonight."

"No," I said. "You give me the tickets and I will get the instruments. I will keep them until I come back for you tonight."

He looked disappointed, but he didn't argue. He opened a drawer in the desk. It was littered with scraps of paper, but he dug through them until he came up triumphantly with a pawn ticket. He handed it to me. His eyes were back on the bottle again.

"I'll be back for you," I said. "I want you to be able to work. That's why I brought such a small bottle. But when you're finished you will have 20,000 lire and you can buy a lot of bottles."

I stopped at the pawnshop and picked up the instruments. On the way back to the hotel, I stopped off and bought some large test tubes and a few tools.
When I arrived at the hotel, there was a message that Signor Rocca had called twice. On the second call, he had left word that he was on his way to the hotel. I told the desk to inform him that I was in the bar when he arrived.

While the bartender was making a drink, I went to the phone and called Gianna. She'd been waiting to hear from me. I told her that business would keep me from seeing her that evening, but that we'd surely go to the party on the following day. She was disappointed, but she bore up under it well. I told her I was planning on renting a car to take us to the baron's place, but she said she had a car and it was agreed that she would pick me up the next day. I assured her that she was still the most beautiful girl in the world and she finally let me go back to the bar. The place was much more soothing.

I was working on a double martini when Piero arrived. He slid onto the seat next to me without looking at me.
"Americans," he said in pretended disgust. "All they think about is business. In Italy it is said that when an American dies he goes to a board of directors meeting. Yes, well. . . I spoke to the girl's parents. They swear that they have promised none of the insurance money nor has anyone asked them. I believe they are telling the truth."
"Probably," I said. "I didn't expect anything else. The Pericoloso girl was undoubtedly killed for other reasons. But I wanted to check it. What about the other thing?"
"There is something there," he said. "Giulio Ferrara lived alone at the address you gave me. He'd lived there alone since his wife died 10 years ago. He was 57. He worked as a stonemason and worked steadily up until the day he died. During the last year or so he was visited fairly regularly by a young lady. The men in the neighborhood describe her as very beautiful, the women lighten their lips and say that she threw herself around too much."
"The niece?" I asked.
"I don't think so. He never introduced her to anyone and nobody in the neighborhood knew anything about his niece. I also saw the doctor who was called in when the old man died. He swears it was a heart attack that killed Ferrara."

"Well," I said. "What about the niece? Did you look her up?"

"There is no such person," he said. "No one named Rossana Caradonna has ever lived at the address you gave me. I did a little more checking and there is no evidence of anyone by that name in Rome. Lots of Caradonnas, lots of Rossanas, but no Rossana Caradonna. I checked some more. Od Giulio had no brothers or sisters, therefore no direct nieces or nephews. His wife had one brother, no sisters. Her brother went to America 40 years ago and has never been heard from since."

"I knew it," I said. "Where is he buried?"

He looked startled. "How do I know?"

"Yes, master," he said. He slid from the stool and vanished in the direction of the lobby.

A bellboy came into the bar calling to Signor March. I waved him over and he handed me a telegram. I gave him 200 lire and tore it open.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN ABOUT RING? ANSWER INSTANTLY. RAYMOND.

I stuck it in my pocket. (To Be Continued)

Many TV Shows Going Off the Air

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) Sponsor magazine reports that 39 of the 114 sponsored television shows on the air are going off the air.

On the casualty list are 19 which bowed in during the season now drawing to a close. The 20 others have had at least two seasons. Since Sponsor compiled its list there have been well-founded rumors of other removals.

Altogether, statistically, it adds up to a casualty rate of about 35 per cent.
The fatalities break down into these categories: comedy, 4; action-adventure, 5; quiz programs, 4; variety programs, 2; drama, 2; sports, 1; and one difficult to categorize, "Noah's Ark."

It is futile, however, to try to draw profound conclusions from the types of new programs that have failed in 1956-57. The casualty rate, only a bit higher than last season's, does not indicate any great revolution brewing in TV programming.

For each fallen soldier of the television rating wars a dozen steady to leap forward and take the casualty's place.

The fact that the highest loss was suffered in the category of action-adventure shows does not mean that that type of program is on the wane. To the contrary, there will be more action-adventure shows than ever next season.

Some of the axed shows were pretty bad ones. Some were very good. All of the failures have not been of craftsmanship or skill. But all the failures have been commercial. That is, they have failed to hold their sponsors.

Sponsors base their judgments on two factors: (1) whether the show sells the product advertised; and (2) its audience rating against the opposition.

Among this season's casualties were some which suffered from the basic cause of every casualty everywhere: they were simply in the wrong places at the wrong times.

Search for Plane With 16 Aboard

BUENOS AIRES (AP) A wide search was pushed through a rugged Andes Mountain area today for an Argentine airplane missing with 16 persons reportedly aboard.

Army cavalry and mounted frontier police led the hunt. The plane operated by the government-owned Lineas Aereas del Estado, disappeared yesterday in fog and heavy rain after leaving Buenos Aires for the Andean resort of San Carlos de Bariloche, 780 miles to the southwest.

Mary Martin to Sing on West Coast

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) Along with sunshine and scenery, California can boast this year of a Mary Martin festival.

The Civic Light Opera of San Francisco and Los Angeles will get the musical star for 21 weeks, first in "South Pacific" and then in "Annie Get Your Gun." Needless to say, the cities are ready for her, the engagements are virtually sold out already. And she is more than ready for them.

"I never felt so eager to sing," she enthused between fittings for her "South Pacific" costumes.

The reason she is primed: she and husband Richard Halliday spent eight months at their ranch in the heart of Brazil.

"It was heavenly," she sighed. "For eight months we didn't hear a telephone, didn't read a newspaper. What did we do? The days were full. We were up at the crack of dawn to supervise work on the place. At night we'd collapse."

"For eight months I didn't sing. Now I'm full of energy and I can't wait to get started."

She's got plenty of work lined up for her. Besides fittings and rehearsals, she's recording an "Annie" album with co-star John Raitt. And as soon as she finishes the run here this fall, she'll do the show on a two-hour colorcast over NBC.

"That's how the whole thing came up," she explained. "Two years ago, we wanted to do the same thing with 'Annie' that we had done with 'Peter Pan'; do it on the stage and then TV. But MGM still held the TV rights, so we had to wait."

When the studio's rights expired, the deal was reactivated. As with "Peter Pan," the show is being originated here in cooperation with Edwin-Lester. Haliday is producing.

Once again she has bob, will shampoo in "South Pacific." Gloria Tozzi, promising young singer of the Metropolitan Opera, will co-star in the role originated by the late Ezio Pinza.

Americans planning to visit Turkey no longer are required to have visas.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband's Nights Out Were Spent With Girl

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have just finished reading your article on a husband's night out with the boys, and feel deep sympathy for the wife who worried about these nights.

I have been married for 10 years. For the first five years, my husband went out with the boys. I was pregnant when my husband changed his nights out with men to nights out with a loose woman — and I made the mistake of not ever checking up on him. It took me a couple of years to discover the sordid affair but when I offered him a divorce he gave up the other woman.

If I were asked to give advice to a young bride, I would say let him go out, but make a periodical check on him. There is nothing more heart-breaking for a woman than to have complete faith and trust in a husband who turns out to be a philanderer.

DISILLUSIONED WIFE

Dear D. W.: Thank you for your letter, and I herewith give you the chance to be an advice-giver to other wives. Anyone else have ideas on handling this situation — which is a most delicate one in many homes?

I believe that if either husband or wife has legitimate pursuits, club meetings, or hobbies for after-working hours, such activities, within reasonable limits, of course, are good. Your words of wisdom, however, should certainly be heeded.

Let's have some more letters on the subject.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a terrible time keeping boy friends because I get sick of them in three weeks. Now I know I was wrong about the boy friend before last. I got him back.

LILLIAN
Dear Lillian: This time it appears the boy friend is tired of you. No self-respecting male will stand for your on-again, off-again tactics. And what guarantee would he have that you wouldn't stage a repeat performance in another three weeks? Only time will tell.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My fiance, aged 22, is very jealous and doesn't trust me at all. He's been engaged twice, and both girls jilted him. He won't give me a ring because he's afraid I'll do the same thing. I'm 18. He's always having fits of depression and says I don't love him.

JUDY
Dear Judy: You aren't qualified to deal with a case like your boy friend. His two previous fiancées gave up; why don't you?

Dear Dorothy Dix: My fiance and I are constantly quarreling and I'm not at all happy in my engagement. I'd break it, but since I have gone all the way with him, I think it would be better to get married. My mother knows about us and she says I'm ruined for life.

ETHEL
Dear Ethel: If you and your fiance don't hit it off now, it's dead sure your married life will be miserable. Break the engagement, which is a farce anyway, and remake your life. You certainly aren't "ruined for life"; don't give into such fatalistic thinking.

prison, was named for the Sin-sink Indians.

Giambro Continues His Winning Ways

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Joey Giambro continued his climb in the middleweight boxing ranks
last night by stopping Chico Ve-jar, but his manager didn't make the traditional demand for a title shot.

"He's ready and it's not a question of working up," observed
Mike Scallion, who handles Joey.
But let's face it, Robinson and Basilio are next."

He referred to the announced
blat of matching welterweight
King Carmen Basilio with Sugar
Ray Robinson for the later's middleweight crown in a big-money event.

Until that comes about the middleweight contenders, including Giambro with his nine straight wins, will have to wait.

Giambro weighed an even 160 to 150½ for Vejar, his rival from Stanford, Conn.

Vejar hit the deck only on a slip in the third round, but was taking a vicious pounding on the ropes when Referee Frankie Carter stopped the fight after 39 seconds of the seventh round.

Giambro, who formerly lived at Buffalo, N. Y., but now calls San Francisco his home, hasn't lost a fight since Aug. 26, 1935, when he dropped a 10-round non-title decision to then-champion Bobo Olson.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talkative
Charley Dessen would have vol-eered several versions of "crazy" to describe anyone who might have predicted eight days ago that he'd soon be off the diamond and in a front office baseball job.

But that's just where he is — an assistant to the president of the Washington Senators.

The 58-year-old Dessen accepted the post yesterday under a contract extending through 1939 at an undisclosed salary.

Dessen's willingness to move upstairs surprised some who thought he'd rebel at the thought of shedding a uniform after 38-plus seasons as player, coach and manager. And Dessen wouldn't say he has stepped into the business side of the game permanently.

However, he appeared his usual cheerful self in telling reporters he believes he can do the last-place Senators "a lot of good" in the new capacity.

Club President Calvin Griffith who fired Dessen as field manager one week ago today, said the chubby little veteran would spend his time "searching for players"

throughout the United States.

Dessen will lack the power of a general manager, and Griffith and new Manager Cookie Lavagotto will have to stamp approval on any deal he works out. But it will be up to Dessen to scare up talent for the club that hasn't breathed first division air at the end of any season since 1946.

The Senators have never had an official with this single and large responsibility.

Phils Have New Generation of Whiz Kids

By JOE REICHLER
Of The Associated Press

A new generation of "Whiz Kids" appears to have emerged upon the Philadelphia horizon.
They promise to thrust the Phillies back into the National League spotlight after six years of frustration and disappointment.

Some of the original "Whiz Kids," like Richie Ashburn, Graham Hamner, Willie Jones, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons are still on the scene but they've been forced into the background by such youngsters as Ed Bouchee, Harry Anderson, Bob Bowman, Jack Sanford, Don Cardwell and Dick Farrell.

This sextet has been largely responsible for the Phils' current streak, which has produced seven victories in the last 10 games.

Veteran observers can't recall when six rookies made good simultaneously on one club.

Three of the six were instrumental in Philadelphia's 10-8 victory over Cincinnati last night which snapped the Redlegs' 12-game winning streak and knocked them out of a first-place tie with Milwaukee. The victory also boosted the Phils past Brooklyn into third place in the National League.

Anderson walloped a home run and single, drove in two runs and scored two. Bouchee also hit a home run and single, drove in two runs and scored one. Farrell, coming to the assistance of Cardwell after Cincinnati had gone ahead 5-4 in the fifth inning, retired five straight batters before bowling out for a pinch hitter to receive credit for his second victory.

The Braves took undisputed possession of first place with a 3-2 victory over the Dodgers.

In other National League games
the New York Giants defeated St.
Louis 5-4 and Pittsburgh outslugged the Chicago Cubs 8-5.

In the only American League game played, Detroit shut out Boston 2-0. The others were rained out.

A pair of old Dodger killers
Joe Adcock and Bob Buhl — did it

again to Brooklyn. Adcock's triple drove in one of Milwaukee's two runs off lower Don Newcombe in the first inning. Adcock carried over the second run himself on an infield single by Chuck Tanner. Billy Bruton drove in Milwaukee's final run with a sixth inning triple.

Buhl was the winner although he needed help from Ernie Johnson in the eighth.

A three-run homer by pinch hitter Bob Thurman gave Cincinnati a temporary lead in the fifth but the Phils roared back with four runs in the seventh on four hits and added two more on Bouchee's ninth-inning homer to offset Cincinnati's desperate two-run bid in its half of the ninth.
Robin Roberts, fourth Philadelphia pitcher, had to come in to put out the fire.

A pair of home runs by Hank Bauer, the second one coming in the fifth had opened the gates with a pair of errors, helped the Giants defeat the Cards.

Ruben Gomez yielded seven hits to register his fifth triumph but it took a sterling relief performance by Allen Worthington to clinch it.

Frank Thomas banged a home run, two doubles and a single, drove in two runs and scored two as the Pirates downed Chicago. The victory went to Luis Arroyo.

Duke Maas, who lost all seven decisions with Detroit in 1936, gained his fifth victory against one defeat this season with a five-hit performance over Boston.

The Tigers made only five hits off lower Frank Sullivan and Ike Delock but two of them went to third baseman Reno Bertoia, who singled in the second inning, scored on Bill Tuttle's sacrifice fly and homered in the seventh.

It opened the eyes

of those who tried GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA for the first time!

1936 LINCOLN OWNER
"This car puts out the power I paid for, now that I'm feeding her GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA... really makes it respond!"

1937 CHEVROLET OWNER
"I didn't believe the difference 'til I tried another gas. But GOLDEN's a real eye-opener. I love it!"

1937 PLYMOUTH OWNER
"What this new gas does for my car sure opened my eyes... going up a hill, for instance. And it seems I don't need gas as often..."

1936 CHRYSLER OWNER
"You feel a great difference. I have used it ever since it came out. When I try another gas, I can tell the difference."

These enthusiastic comments are typical from drivers who try GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA. In a survey, in fact, 82% of the owners of late model, high-compression cars reported an immediate improvement with GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA. Motorists found it gave them a brand-new motoring experience! Developed by Esso Research, this is the first gasoline actually designed to get top mileage, full power, and instant response from today's most advanced engines. Tests in these engines prove that only GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA offers this great combination: 1. Completely stops harmful, power-robbing engine knocks. 2. Delivers unexcelled power and acceleration. 3. Gives more mileage than conventional gasolines can possibly offer. 4. Contains the best combination of additives needed for top performance. See your Esso Dealer soon!
